With Servlets 2.2 and JavaServer Pages 1.1, it's easier than ever to create dynamic, enterprise-class Web applications. Now, developers can master Servlets and JSP hands-on, with a multimedia training course based on Marty Hall's world-renowned live seminars. In more than 5 hours of digital video lectures, Hall offers start-to-finish, up-to-the-minute guidance and examples that will help any Java developer achieve powerful results with Sun's latest versions of Servlet and JSP technology -- fast. The package also includes a complete, fully-searchable e-copy of the world's most popular Servlet/JSP book for experienced developers, Marty Hall's Core Servlets and JavaServer Pages. Hall starts by introducing basic Servlet syntax, then walks developers through creating their first servlets. He introduces fundamental techniques for handling client requests, generating HTML responses, using cookies, and tracking sessions. Next, he introduces JavaServer Pages -- reviewing fundamental concepts, covering JSP scripting elements, introducing page directives, and presenting advanced techniques for incorporating reusable JavaBeans, and dynamically including other files. The package also includes a complete printed workbook, plus an extensive library of Servlet/JSP code on CD-ROM.
